

HOW DO UNIVERSITIES USE LABOUR MARKET INTELLIGENCE?

TRAINING COURSE
SAVE THE DATES
17-18-19 JANUARY 2024

Università degli Studi Milano–Bicocca

The LMI-EUniv partnership has designed a training course for university leaders on how HEI can efficiently use LMI in planning activity. The course will be delivered in Milan in hybrid sessions that consist of 5 modules:

Mapping the LMI sources and resources in higher education institutions

LMI as an essential tool for aligning higher education provision with the labor market

The role of LMI in university strategic planning processes and decisions

LMI capabilities for employability (evidencing impact and outcomes for policymakers)

Shaping the future resources of LMI

The LMI-EUniv project is a 26 months ERASMUS+ Strategic Partnership, that brings together 5 partners from five EU countries to understand how European Universities are using labour market information and labour market intelligence in the planning and delivery of their training offer and how can this be improved
